DOGS OF THE BLOOD ROYAL

Bench Show at Tomlinson Hall Continues to Attract Big Crowds.

Gossip About Some of the Notable Animals on Exhibition-To-Day the Last Day of the Bench Show.

NLY one day is left of the dog show, and it will pay all who have not seen the exhibition to go today or they will be precluded from he privilege. The logs will, for the nost part, very likely never be seen in this city again, as they are nearly all big winners and cannot afford to visit this city unless when on their tour of the shows of the country. The dogs will all remain in the hall until 16 o'clock to-night, and as a [ matter of interest no person can well afford to miss seeing the sight. Besides, the exhibition given by the trained dogs is well worth the small price of admission asked-25 cents. There has been some little surprise expressed over certain decisions rendered in the Russian wolf hound class, which was judged by Dr. Van Hummel on a different basis than has

"ALAS P. YORICK'S" SCHEME

A Winner Financially, but It Got Him Into Trouble with Uncle Sam.

Theatrical Company on the Breakers-Another Turn in the Hartz Case-Employes Ask Damages.

Postoffice Inspector Fletcher yesterday swore out a warrant for the arrest of H. H. Paramore and H. E. Paramore, on a charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes. They carried on what they called the Scientific Press Publishing Company. Their publication was to be called the American Inventive Progress, which purported to be a compendium of notable American inventions by American inventors, compiled by A. P. Yorick, B. A., editor and journalist; William Primrose Bidwell. A. M., and Gen. J. P. Yarington, the introduction being by John Merritt Drive, LL.D. the newspaper humorfrom time to time appeared in print over the signature of "Alas P. Yorick." The plan of the company's operations was to offer to give inventors space in the book for $2, including a copy of the book. At first, it seems, the publishers offered to include a photograph of the subscriber, but latterly the scheme began to prove so profitable that a charge of $1 extra was made. The company represented that only inventions of pro-nounced merit were accepted, and that the insertion of a description of the invention would give the owner some special advantages at the world's fair. Complaint was made to one of the city banks by Jonathan G. Orr, of Danville, Als., who had sent the company $2 and had received nothing but a piece of paper, on which was printed a promise to send the copy of the book as soon as it should appear from the press. The bank referred the communication to the postoffice inspector, who at once ordered the arrest. The defendants were released on their own recognizance. The postoffice authorities say that advices calling for $27 were received for the company yesterday, and that the money received in this way must have amounted to over a thousand dollars. The letters were mostly from the South. The book the company was thus selling is in course of composition at Blanford Brothers' printing office on West Washington street. Mr. Fletcher said yesterday that there were only two boys working on it, and that only five pages had been set. Even if the book was printed, he said, the defendants had violated the law in putting out something of this kind through the mails without giv-ing their right names. They were taken before Commissioner Van Buren, but were released on their own recognizance to appear for a preliminary hearing on next

Theatrical Company Caught. Kolbfield's Specialty Stars, from the Orpheum Theater, of San Francisco, became entangled in the coils of a writ of capias ad respondendum in this city at an early hour Thursday morning. Beginning with the Monday matinee, they opened a three days' engagement at the Park Theater. During their stay in the city they boarded at the Brunswick Hotel. They were about to depart on an early train Thursday morning, when Mrs. South, proprietress of the hotel, started after a capias to prevent their departure. At half-past I o'clock in the morning she drove in a carriage to 'Squire Daniele's house, and, waking up the justice, desired him to make out the papers for her to capias the troupe. The justice informed her that it was not the province of the court to prepare papers, and advised her to consult an attorney. She returned to her house and woke up Mr. Payne, an attorney who boards with her, and he prepared the necessary papers to be filed. With these she returned to the home of the justice, arriving there about 3 A. M. Con-stable Charles Whitesell was next wakened and the writ placed in his hands to serve. He went to the depot and attached the troupe's baggage just as they were preparing to leave the city. They were detained a few hours when they seeured $35 and paid to Mrs. South, leaving a ballance due of $20, which they secured by deposting with her a lot of jewelry, agreeing to redeem the jewelry from the first proceeds of their next engagement, which is at some point in Illinois. Having arranged matters with the hotel keeper they departed on a later train yesterday morn-

Employes Suing for Damages, There was begun in the Circuit Court yesterday a suit for damages against the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Ratiroad Company by Marion McCorele. John W. Pulliam has sued the Lake Erie & Western Railroad Company for $5,000 for personal injuries. He lay beside the track for one hour before he was found.

Another Point in the Hartz Case, Mrs. Virginia Hartz yesterday morning filed her appeal bond, in the sum of $500, in her appeal to the general term from the decision of Judge Harper in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted against her by her husband. George Hartz, for the possession of their child. The defense maintain that the effect of the appeal is to suspend the operation of the order of the court, and that, pending the appeal, the child should remain where it is, in the custody of the defendant. This position is controverted by the plaintiff, and argument upon this point will be heard at 10 o'clock this morning, the child remaining with the mother until this point is settled. The attorneys and parties are endeavoring to, and it is probable that some kind of an amicaole settlement of the difficulties will be reached before the argument this morning, and both the divorce and habeas corpus proceedings will probably be dismissed.

Failure to Deliver a Telegram. The Supreme Court yesterday, for the second time, handed down a decision relating to the duty of the Western Union company in the matter of delivering messages. Thomas J. Newhouse, of Terre Haute, was sent a telegram from Lawrence, in this county, telling him that if he wished to see his mother alive he must come at once. The company's agent who was intrusted with the delivery of the message left it in the hands of a third party, though informed that Newhouse did not longer work at the place, and that it was not proper to leave it there. Judgment was rendered in favor of Newhouse for $400, and it was this that the court has just af-

"Levee" Brawlers in Police Court. The participants in the shooting affray on the "levee" were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning. John O. Talbott, charged with assault and battery with intent tokill, and Bailey Wiles, with drunkenness, had their cases continued until to-morrow morning. Andy Fleming, charged with assault and battery, pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs. The case against Hartzeil, whose right name it appears is Cruse, was dismissed.

More Iron Hall Briefs. The attorneys on both sides of the Iron Hall yesterday filed additional briefs in the case. The documents were evidently intended to strengthen the oral argument made. Neither side advanced anything new. The Aspbey vs. Steele decision was the principal topic of the briefs. A decision is expected within two or three weeks.

McClure Murder Trial Interrupted. The proceedings of the McClure murder trial in the Criminal Court were interrupted yesterday by the anticipated arrival of another member of the family of Judge Cox. Court was adjourned until this morning. At 2 o'ch ck yester-day afternoon the Judge's fondest hopes were realized. It is a girl and bright as a sunbeam.

The Company Wins. The jury in the case of George Lowe against the Citizens' Street-railroad Company yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the company. Lowe sued for the loss of services of his son Frank, who was killed last fall by a College-avenue electric car at the corner of Massachu-setts avenue and New Jersey street.

The Indianapolis hominy mills had an explosion night before last which resulted in damages amounting to about $500. The mill has been closed down for several days, and men were employed in cleaning up. One, whose name was Wilson, went into a room on the top floor on the southeast corner with a lighted lantern, and instantly there was a loud explosion, Wilson was thrown back a number of feet, but was not seriously hurt, though he was not able to work yesterday. The cause of the explosion is supposed to be the accumulation of meal dust. The proprietors deny that there was any such oc-at English's Opera House last night by a company that was weak in spots, but good on the whole. The heavier parts were taken by extraordinarily good people, who succeeded in arousing the enthusiasm of a large audience in the closing acts, and that they did not do so in the opening was not due to their work, but to the play itself. John Dailey, a thorough artist, was seen as Duc de Beaumont, and Harrison Wolfe as Paul Kauvar. The work of Miss Mildred Holland was splendid, and she had the sympathy of her auditors from beginning to end. "Paul Kauvar" will be seen at English's the rest of the week.

PARK THEATER-"THE FAIRIES' WELL." Con T. Murphy's interesting comedy drama of Irish life, "The Fairies' Well," was presented at the Park yesterday and pleased two large audiences. George H. Timmons, the star, is a good Irish character actor and in the company are several people who play acceptably, and sing and dance well. The piece is picturesquely mounted and the specialties are good. It will be repeated at both performances to-day and to-NOTES.

A new play, "The New South," will be seen in Indianapolis for the first time, at the Grand, next Monday night Janauschek, now about the only survivor of the old school of tragediennes, will present two of her most notable impersonations. Revival Service at Edwin Ray Church Interrupted by Mrs. Fricker's Demonstrations.

Mrs. Sophia Fricker, wife of George Fricker, a traveling photographer residing on Prospect street, is violently insane, her affliction assuming the form of a religious mania. The first symptoms of the diseased mind displayed themselves Wednesday night at the Edwin Ray M. E. Church, where Mrs. Fricker had been a constant attendant on the series of revivals being held by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Rawls.

On Wednesday night, in the midst of the services, Mrs. Fricker arose and began rubbing her hands, shouting and singing. Her demonstrations became so noisy that the minister dismissed the congregation, but the unfortunate woman walked to the pulpit and exhorted the people not to leave the house, but to remain and listen to the gospel which she would preach. She claimed that she was giorified, and rushing to the pastor, graspedhis hands, and indulged in loud hallalujahs and exclamations of a religious nature. The demented woman was finally persuaded to accompany friends to her home, where she continues in a distressing condition.
